THE WOMAN GIVES

BY
OWEN JOHNSON

Enthusiastic reports from booksellers who have read this new novel, together with the large advance orders would seem to confirm our judgment that "The Woman Gives" represents Owen Johnson's most mature work. In Inga Sonderson, the heroine, he has achieved his greatest character creation.

The first large edition is likely to be sold out by the day of publication. The first published review pronounces "THE WOMAN GIVES" a distinct advance on "The Salamander." Our aggressive advertising campaign of Owen Johnson's best novel is bound to create an unusual demand. Be prepared.

H. G. Wells' New Novel

MR. BRITLING SEES IT THROUGH

(READY SEPTEMBER 20)

You know H. G. Wells. He's the man who fore-saw the Great War and wrote about its air battles over seven years ago! Now Mr. Wells has written a new novel — a very powerful novel — in which he vividly describes the effects of the great conflict on the hearts and minds of the English people. Mr. Wells hasn't filled his pages with the smoke and horror of actual battle (there's enough of this in the daily papers!) — his story gets beyond these to the truth of the whole matter which is found in the lives of Mr. Britling and his family. 'Mr. Britling Sees It Through' is a big novel; it may be called the first big war novel.

MR. BRITLING SEES IT THROUGH

If you want to have copies of this remarkable story in your shop on September 20, place your order with us now before the first edition has been exhausted.

CAPITALIZING THE NEWS VALUE IN NON-FICTION

SELLING non-fiction, the thousand and one books on subjects ranging all the way from agriculture to zoology, always has been the bookseller's hardest task. He stacks up his fiction in polychromatic tiers about the front entrance, puts more copies in the window and with the help of generous publicity campaigns the books are said to "sell themselves." Nothing like so easy is the task which his non-fiction presents, for often after he has given them all the publicity he can afford—and a little more—posted them on the store bulletin board, talked them up thru his assistants, many of them still persist in a deadly habit of accumulating with fading backs on his upper shelves.

Generally there is nothing the matter with the books themselves, providing of course the dealer has not blundered in his buying; the trouble is simply that the person who would be interested in a particular book has lost sight of it, or possibly has never had it called specifically to his attention. In this connection the Current Events Counter inaugurated recently in Brentano's New York store is of more than passing interest. A six-foot display card above the counter announces that, "This display shows the close association of some book to practically every news item. In detail the book is complete, the news item brief. Brentano's will show each day on these shelves important news items of daily occurrence and the best books to read relating to them." Below this card are some score of books in each of which is inserted a white card about ten by twelve inches on which are the words, "Every subject of present interest has its books"; on this card is pasted a newspaper clipping, headlines prominently displayed, and the name of the paper and its date are written in to add timeliness and reality to the display. An idea of the books featured is given by the following: The day after one of Hughes' recent important speeches, his speech was used in connection with the new Dutton book, "Charles E. Hughes, the Statesman as Shown in the Opinions of the Jurist"; after Kumagae defeated Johnston at Newport, the head-line "Jap tennis marvel uses rare stroke" was used with J. P. Paret's "Lawn Tennis for Beginners"; the threatened railroad strike, infantile paralysis, and numerous other recent news items of prominence are being thus used daily. The news value of the display is enhanced by the fact that the store follows each day's news with fresh additions to the display, the counter being in charge of a clerk who scouts thru the papers each morning.

The idea of a permanent Current Events Counter grew from the success of Brentano's Current Events Window Displays, which we have had occasion to comment upon before. These windows attracted unusual attention, especially among men; one New York daily devoted a column to a description of the window and a recommendation that all news readers supplement their daily reading along the lines suggested by the window. Such a counter is not a complete solution of the slow stock problem, but any plan which proves successful in drawing more men into the store and which helps to lift the dead weight of aging stock should be a welcome assistance to the bookseller.

It is reported that a card index of babies has been prepared by the Sheffield Farms-Slawson Decker Co., a milk distributing concern of New York City, in order that the latest comers may be first served in the event of a reduction of the milk supply due to a railroad strike—another example of the kind of efficiency that is permeating every line of business to-day. In card indexing customers the bookseller has his chance, the systematic tabulation of his clientele so that each advertising shot may tell. Possibilities of co-operating, in making various kinds of lists, with Sunday schools (whose "Cradle Rolls" are now considered indispensable), with the local sporting goods house, the Boy Scout organizations, the suffrage party, prison reform league, musical societies, are endless. Church year books and school catalogs often give valuable lists of names and addresses.

PERHAPS the most absurd of all the attempts to relieve the paper situation is that advanced, if we are to believe the newspaper dispatches, by Senator Hitchcock. Noting that the prices of paper are unduly high he proposes to solve the problem by making them higher—by the imposition of a progressive federal tax increasing from $3 per ton for papers costing $45-$50 a ton up to $50 a ton for papers costing over $90 a ton. Practically all book and periodical papers come into the last class. All publishers who think that the imposition of a federal tax of 52% on their paper purchases would be a desirable addition to their present expenses will warmly support Senator Hitchcock's measure!

An enterprising machinery dealer in New York City is sending us lists headed, not "Second-Hand Machinery," but "Pre-Used Machinery." Hm. "Pre-Used Books." Why not?

IMPORTS AND EXPORTS OF PAPER, PAPER STOCK AND BOOKS

THE tables given herewith from figures compiled by the Department of Commerce showing the amount of paper and paper stock imported into the United States, or exported therefrom during the twelve months ended June, 1916, with comparisons with other years, throw some light on the validity of the manufacturers' claims that there are reasons behind the present paper famine not under their control. Our importation of paper stock (except wood pulp) has decreased almost fifty per cent. since 1914, altho 1916 shows a very slight gain over 1915. Importation of printing paper, on the other hand, has risen over fifty per cent. since 1914, due to a very large increase in the amount imported from Canada, which more than offset the stoppage of importation from Germany and the decline of importations from Norway and other countries.

A 50 per cent. increase in the importation of wood pulp from Canada does not cover the decreased importation from other countries, altho the decline from 1914 figures is not pronounced.

Probably the most significant feature of these statistics, however, is the increase in our own exportation of printing paper and wood pulp. Whereas in the twelve months ending June, 1914, we exported but 117,568,872 pounds of printing paper, in the corresponding period of 1916 we exported 200,718,443 pounds. Division by countries is given only in the case of news print. The United Kingdom more than doubled its demand, but at that took but one-fourteenth of the total. Canada took only one-sixth as much as she took in 1914; Mexico took more than ten times as much as in 1914; Australia took only one-third as much. But Argentina, as in 1915, led all the rest, taking 43,740,886 pounds, as against 17,688,296 in 1915. About one-third of our news-print paper export goes to Argentina.

Wood pulp exports have also increased enormously—from 12,036 tons in 1914 and 8410 tons in 1915 to 35,994 tons in 1916.

Exportation of printing paper of foreign manufacture rose from 1,073,608 pounds in 1915 to 4,334,238 in 1916.

To summarize roughly: We imported $4,000,000 less paper stock, other than wood pulp, than in 1914 and about the same amount of wood pulp; we imported $5,500,000 more printing paper. We exported $3,000,000 more printing paper and $1,000,000 more wood pulp.

SHORTAGE OF PAPER ABROAD

ACCORDING to consular reports the present news paper shortage is nearly world wide, tho it is notable that it is the non-paper-producing countries that are hardest hit.

In South America not only has the European war cut off many imports of paper, but this war has caused an increase in the use of print paper. The two factors together have run the price up considerably. Consul General Gottschalk, from Rio de Janeiro, declares that the scarcity of news print paper in Brazil is a serious matter.

A suggestion has been made that the Brazilian Congress reduce the import duties on news print paper for a time. The matter is said to have attracted widespread attention, perhaps on account of the impression that importers usually profit by a scarcity on the local Brazilian market to make exorbitant demands for what stocks they may have on hand. Altho the serious situation now confronting the country has been looming up threateningly for a long time past, no effort has been made to save or to collect waste paper and rags, as in the United States.

The consular report from Brazil further stated that a member of the Brazilian Chamber of Deputies has already presented to Congress a proposed amendment to the forthcoming budget law, providing that imported paper shall pay no duty and only the expediente tax on entering the country.

This situation is also found in Spain, where the scarcity of paper is causing considerable anxiety. According to reports received here, representatives of Spanish publishers, printers, and manufacturers of paper and cardboard have informed the government of their willingness to postpone filling export orders until after the domestic demand for their products has been fully met. They also expressed a desire that the government fix prices and conditions to control the export of raw materials used in paper manufacture. Acting upon this suggestion, the Spanish government, by a royal order published June 15 last, appointed a commission, representative of the government presiding, formed of three delegates chosen from each interested group, namely, paper manufacturers, newspaper publishers, and those engaged in bookmaking arts. The custom house authorities must submit to this commission a sample of every class of paper or cardboard exported, accompanied by a statement as to its tariff classification, the quantity exported, its origin and the name of the exporter. Wood pulp and logs for making pulp coming from foreign countries were exempted from the transport tax in March last and an export duty of $1.58 per 100 pounds was levied on endless paper weighing from 41 to 50 grams per square meter and containing mechanical pulp.

G. W. DILLINGHAM CO. BANKRUPT

BANKRUPTCY proceedings were instituted against the G. W. Dillingham Co. on Wednesday of this week. The liabilities of the firm were given as $50,000 and the assets slightly more than $5000. The petition was filed by William G. Rosenberg, as attorney for these creditors: Anna F. Hesse, $450; Ahern & Randall, $41, and Augustus Edmonston, $79. Another creditor who did not figure in the bankruptcy application was the J. J. Little & Ives Company, which held notes against the Dillingham Company for $30,000 for printing. According to Mr. Rosenberg, the present trouble was precipitated by a judgment for $11,294, obtained recently by Vernon Brothers & Co. for non-payment of a bill for paper. When the judgment was not satisfied, he said, the paper merchants directed the Sheriff to seize the property of the Dillingham concern, and since then preferential transfers had been made.

On Thursday Judge Hand appointed Francis L. Kohlman receiver for the Dillingham Co., and restrained the Sheriff from interfering with the property of the company on the execution of Vernon Bros. & Co. for $11,294. It was alleged on information and belief that in July the company transferred books and papers to J. J. Little & Ives Co. to prefer it, and the latter company also claims a lien on some of the assets.

The firm of G. W. Dillingham Co. dates back to 1857 when George W. Carleton, then twenty-five years of age, together with a friend, Edward P. Rudd, and the latter's father, George R. Rudd, founded the firm of Rudd & Carleton.

In 1861, when the younger Rudd died and the father retired, the style of the firm was changed to G. W. Carleton. The Carleton firm was from the first a rallying place for the younger set of American writers such as Thomas Bailey Aldrich, Artemas Ward, Fitz-James O'Brien, Henry Clapp, jr., Ned Wilkins, George Wilkins, George Arnold, Richard Henry Stoddard, Charles F. Briggs ("Harry Franco"), Frank Bellew, Charles G. Halpin, Josh Billings, Charles H. Webb ("John Paul"), and many others.

Thruout it was the aim of the house to encourage local writers, humorists, odd scribblers of all sorts and this policy more than once resulted in rather astonishing successes. Notable among these was "The Farmer's Alminax," which took nearly a year to sell 2,000 copies, then suddenly "caught on" and turned the year with 150,000 copies to its credit. In a little over ten years over half a million copies of this book were sold. Novels by Mary J. Holmes, Bertha Clay, Augusta Evans Wilson, Captain Mayne Reid, John Esten Cooke, Marion Harland, Allan Pinkerton, May Agnes Fleming, and Fannie Fern are said to have proved veritable bonanzas for the house. Mr. Carleton took what was then considered a great risk in publishing a translation of "Les Misérables," but his judgment was vindicated by subsequent sales which mounted into the hundreds of thousands; 25,000 copies were taken by one retail dealer at the trade sale in 1861—said to be the largest item ever so sold. His subsequent translation of Balzac, however, proved a dismal failure.

In 1871, George W. Dillingham, Mr. Carleton's chief clerk since 1864, was admitted to partnership and the firm became G. W. Carleton & Co. In 1886 Mr. Carleton retired and Mr. Dillingham succeeded him as head of the firm. In 1895 Mr. Dillingham died of injuries received while riding horseback, and a year later the G. W. Dillingham Co. was incorporated with John H. Cook as president and John W. Hesse as secretary and treasurer. The present company was incorporated in 1906 with capital stock $115,000. Bradstreet's took away its rating a year ago. The officers were John H. Cook, president and manager; Raymond D. Little, vice president; Arthur W. Little, treasurer, and Frank F. Hesse, secretary. The Messrs. Little became officers early in 1915. Mr. Cook died on July 22 of this year.

TRADE LIST ANNUAL FOR 1916
READY

DESPITE the fact that the binding of the Trade List Annual was held up for nearly two weeks on account of delays due to the congestion of freight shipments arriving in New York, the "big book" for 1916 is out on time. The total number of publishers represented is a trifle larger than in last year's issue, only a very few of the more important ones having failed to contribute their lists. The Annual this year is unusually important owing to the numerous changes in list prices made by several houses. The bindery of J. F. Tapley Co. deserve much credit for their share in producing the book so promptly in spite of some exasperating delays.

COPYRIGHT NOTES
ENGLAND PROPOSES TEMPORARY COPYRIGHT ARRANGEMENTS FOR ENEMY BOOKS

THE British government has introduced into Parliament a bill dealing with copyright in works first published or made in an enemy country during the present war. It is proposed that the copyright in all such works shall be deemed to vest in the public trustee in his capacity as custodian under the Trading With the Enemy (amendment) act, 1914; and the public trustee shall have all such powers, rights, and remedies in relation to the work as such person as aforesaid would, had a state of war not existed, have had; and all copyrights so vested in the public trustee and any money arising from the exercise of his rights as the owner of any such copyright, shall be dealt with by him in like manner as property vested in him under the Trading With the Enemy (amendment) act, 1914.

RIGHT TO DRAMATIZE FOR THE STAGE DOES NOT INCLUDE MOTION PICTURE RIGHTS

THE question as to whether the words "exclusive right to dramatize for presentation on the stage" when used in a contract between author and play producer include the right to film for motion pictures came up again recently in Klein v. Beach and Selig Polyscope Co., in the District Court, Southern District of New York, and Judge Mayer decided it in the negative. The facts in the case were briefly: Rex Beach granted to Charles Klein the exclusive right to dramatize his book, "The Ne'er Do Well." Upon the failure of the producer to carry out his part of the contract, the rights of production of Klein's dramatization reverted to Beach and Klein. When Beach licensed the Selig Co. to film Klein's dramatization, Klein objected that the "exclusive right to dramatize for presentation on the stage" vested motion picture as well as spoken stage rights in him. Judge Mayer held, however, that whereas in contracts which had been drawn up between the various parties there had been detailed mention of "stock companies" and other details relating to production on the spoken stage but no mention at all of motion picture production, the original grant to Klein had been for the spoken stage alone.

Since, then, Beach was within his rights in licensing the Selig Co. to film the book, the latter company was not involved in the present suit by Klein for injunction, accounting and damages. Since, however, Beach had apparently turned over Klein's dramatization to the film company without making an accounting to Klein, with whom he owned the production rights of Klein's dramatization, the judge held that Klein had a cause of action against Beach for an accounting and the latter's motion to dismiss was refused. (232 F. R., 240.)

PARTY TO FUTURE PURCHASE OF COPYRIGHT MAY RESTRAIN INFRINGEMENT

The case of Jones Bros. Pub. Co. et al. v. Historical Pub. Co., in the Circuit Court of Appeals, Third Circuit, on April 28, 1916, while not sufficiently interesting to warrant summary here, brought out one point of interest in regard to the right of a future purchaser of a copyright to restrain present infringement. In an agreement whereby the owner of a copyright agrees to sell and the other party agrees to buy the copyright, the sale to be executed nearly two years thereafter upon the buyer making a certain payment, Judge McPherson held that such an agreement vests an equitable title to the copyright in the buyer, which warrants his joining action with the seller to prevent infringement by a third party. (231 F. R. 638.)

T. B. HARMS & FRANCIS, DAY & HUNTER v. STERN, et al.

The case of T. B. Harms & Francis, Day & Hunter v. Stern et al (see PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY, July 10, 1915)—in which a composer, after contracting with a certain publisher to issue all songs which he should write for a period of five years, contracted with a second publisher and then endeavored to restrain the first publisher from infringing the song published by the second—came before the Circuit Court of Appeals, Second Circuit, on October 22, and the ruling of the lower court was reversed and an injunction granted.

The temporary injunction was granted by the Circuit Court of Appeals on the strength of a judgment in the same case by the New York Supreme Court, which held that the contract between the composer and first publisher was "unequitable and lacked mutuality of obligations and remedy." An application for re-argument, in December, 1915, showed that this Supreme Court ruling "was not in fact as it had been disclosed in the record" and with any question of the validity of the contract removed, Judge Rogers, of the Circuit Court of Appeals, annulled, on Feb. 15, 1916, his own earlier decision and refused an injunction on the same grounds as the lower court, i. e., that complainant did not come into court with clean hands. (231 F. R., 645.)

COMMUNICATIONS

FILLING IN BOOKSTORE GAPS

New York, August 23, 1916.

Editor THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY:

Your editorial in the July 29th issue suggesting the desirability of co-operation in promoting the opening of new book-stores in localities where they are needed interests me very much. As you intimate it is not enough to help along the scattered and sporadic new book-stores as they start up. What is really necessary is the careful survey of the field by some neutral and financially uninterested organization. The Publishers' Co-operative Bureau might serve as a nucleus for such an organization even if the other publishers who are not in the Bureau did not join in.

You do not have to look far to find cities which need book-stores. They are right at your elbow, so to speak. Take the city of Yonkers, nearly one hundred thousand inhabitants, no book-store. Mount Vernon, not quite half the size of Yonkers, but still large enough, with no book-store which I ever heard of. New Jersey is dotted with cities large enough to support a book-store but where are they? The answer is—in New York and Philadelphia. Not even Newark, a city of 350,000 inhabitants, has a book-store outside the department stores. Just how many available towns without book-stores could be found east of Ohio and north of Washington, D. C., could only be determined by a careful survey of the field.

Co-operation in buying has never had the trial that it should have had in the book-trade, but I do not take half the stock in co-operation in buying that I do in co-operation in selling, i. e., exchange of selling ideas. I am not personally in touch with the work of the Publishers' Co-operative Bureau. I presume they are making it their business to spread broadcast in the trade every good selling idea they get hold of, particularly "good hunches" for the sale of specific books. By co-operative action thru the Bureau or any similar body, many enterprising publicity "stunts" could be pulled off which could not be attempted by a single store in a small city.

For instance, if half a dozen or a dozen stores got together they could buy up a car-load of "jobs" and move them from one store to another for a sale in each running a week. Such an offering of book bargains in a moderate sized town which had never had a sale of the kind before would pull everybody with the slightest interest in books into the book-store.

Another way to draw trade to the store is to hold special sales of articles outside the book business. Moderate priced pictures might be tried, plaster casts, oriental rugs, Persian cats and toy dogs. You may smile at these last two suggestions, but just the same they could be sold at a profit and they would draw people to the store. Make each one of the kinds of merchandise I have mentioned a separate sale running a week to prolong the publicity, and remember that the cat and dog sales are sales not shows. You see I have looked into the demand for Persian cats and toy dogs and you haven't—and anything that will draw legitimate trade to a book-store is going to help the sale of books. There are just as many customers for a new cyclopedia in any small interior town in Pennsylvania in proportion to its size as there are in Philadelphia, but in most of the towns there is no bookseller to sell it, and if there were he would be afraid to stock any book higher in price than a $1.50 novel. That is one of the pieces of work open to co-operative effort—the education of the average small town bookseller into the sale of expensive—and profitable—books. It is only by definite and reiterated instruction that small town booksellers can be brought to appreciate the potential customers in their own communities and go after them for the purchase of particular items.

B. W. D.

BEFORE THE DAY OF THE PURE BOOK AD.
LAW

New York City, August 21, 1916.

Editor THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY:

The latest number of The New Republic contains an amusing article, "When the Augurs Yawned," recounting, from the vantage-point of some twoscore years hence the presidential campaign of 1916. "At that time," the narrator says, "long before the pure candidate law was enacted or even thought of, any candidate was legally free to say that he contained nothing but undiluted Americanism, and each did say so several times. By October such assertions had ceased to thrill the electorate." Finally the rival campaign managers, seeing things beginning to lag, arranged as a last resort to have the rival candidates meet face to face in private and say to each other some of the banalities they had been saying at each other; it was hoped thereby to clarify the atmosphere and stimulate the campaign. Mr. Wilson and Mr. Hughes meet and begin to mouth the commonplaces of the campaign solemnly back and forth. "For about half an hour," the narrator continues, "I looked and listened, and then voices, loud at first, got lower and lower. When silence fell I stole in to investigate. By saying to each other, the two of them in a room, the very things they had been saying at each other in public, each had put the other to sleep. . . . When at last the renewed sound of their voices woke me up again I couldn't quite catch their drift. The candidates seemed to have agreed that perhaps they were boring the voters, and that something must be done. If the words of each produced sleep in the other, how could the voters be expected to stay awake? Suddenly both men jumped up. 'Let's try saying what we think,' they shouted together. 'That'll shake them up.' The rest of the article tells what happened next.

Perhaps it was because we had read the article immediately before going to bed, perhaps, too, the publishing problems which we had been thinking over earlier in the evening had something to do with it, but when we fell asleep, we had a dream marvelously like the article in some of its features. We, too, seemed to be looking back at the present from the future "long before the pure book ad. law was enacted" and the publisher was free to say anything he wanted about a book, which he did say. In our dream, too, "such assertions had ceased to thrill and astonish the readers." Then the publishers, in despair, decided to get together and say to each other some of the things they had been saying at the public. Which they did. And then, as in the printed words which we had read, "voices, loud at first, got lower and lower. By saying to each other the very things they had been saying in public, each had put the other to sleep." And then it seemed in our dream that the publishers awakened and they "seemed to have agreed that they were boring the book-buyers, and that something must be done. If the words of each produced sleep in the other [the publishers agreed], how could the readers be expected to stay awake? . . . Finally, they jumped up . . . 'Let's try saying what we think,' they shouted together. 'That'll shake 'em up.'"

And they did—but, unfortunately, we awakened here with a violent start and the dream dissolved itself into space.

OBITUARY NOTES

ANDREW B. TILLINGHAST, for many years connected with the book-trade, died at his home in New York City on August 20 in his 54th year. Mr. Tillinghast started in the book business with the J. B. Lippincott Co. He was afterward a traveling salesman for A. C. Armstrong & Son and Thos. Nelson & Sons, and for the past ten years with James Pott & Co. He is survived by a wife, one daughter and two sons. Interment was private.

JAMES THORNE HARPER died on August 26 in his sixty-second year, after an illness of some months. Mr. Harper was the son of James Harper, one of the original founders of the firm of J. & J. Harper, in 1817, which in 1853 became Harper & Bros. After leaving college, in 1875, he spent a year and a half in European travel and then began his business career by entering the composing room of Harper & Bros. Passing through the various departments of the business he became a member of the firm in 1890, and when the business was incorporated in 1896 he was its secretary. This connection lasted only until November, 1899, however, when he entered another field.

WILLIAM HAYES WARD, D.D., formerly editor-in-chief and more recently contributing editor of the Independent, and an archaeologist of note, died in South Berwick, Me., on August 28. He was eighty-one years old. For nearly a year Dr. Ward had been an invalid as the result of a fall from a carriage, but he remained active in his duties as a contributing editor of the Independent. His association with that publication began in 1868. For two years he was associate editor. From 1870 to 1896 he was superintending editor, and until he resigned, in 1913, on account of advancing age he was editor-in-chief. In 1885 Dr. Ward was director of the Wolfe expedition to Babylonia, which did much to reveal the buried history of that ancient land. His books include "World's Christmas Hymn," 1883; "Report of the Wolfe Expedition to Babylonia," 1885; "Biography of Sidney Lanier," 1885; "Cylinders and Other Oriental Seals in the Library of J. Pierpont Morgan," 1909; "The Seal Cylinders of Western Asia," 1909.

PERIODICAL NOTES

THE publisher of The Dial announces that Dr. Clinton J. Masseck has been appointed editor, with Travis Hoke as associate editor. Dr. Masseck is a graduate of Tufts College, with an A.M. from Harvard University, and bears in addition the degree of Docteur de l'universite de Paris. He is an instructor in English at Washington University, St. Louis.

C. M. ROGERS, circulation manager of The Masses, was arrested on Thursday of this week, and all copies of August Forel's "The Sex Question," as well as the September issue of the magazine, were confiscated. The arrest was made on a charge of circulating indecent literature, brought against the magazine by the Society for the Suppression of Vice. The case is to come up for trial on September 12.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES

GEORGE H. GEER, JR., joined the staff of travelers of the Houghton Mifflin Co. on September 1.

DODD, MEAD & Co. will publish "From the House-tops," by George Barr McCutcheon, on September 16.

THE FLEMING H. REVELL Co. has just published "The Life and Times of Booker T. Washington," by B. F. Riley.

THE PUBLICATION date of Sir Gilbert Parker's "The World for Sale" (Harper) has been changed from September 12 to September 18.

THE BOBBS-MERRILL Co. announces "The Painted Scene," a volume of short stories about the stage, by Henry Kitchell Webster, for September 23.

THE FIRST EDITION of Hilaire Belloc's "Elements of the Great War; second phase" (Hearst's International Library Co.) was sold out in advance of publication. A second edition is now printing.

A FREE COURSE in proofreading, copy-editing and theoretical typography will be given at the Stuyvesant Evening Trade School, New York, commencing September 18. Men and women engaged in the printing, publishing and allied trades and professions are invited to join the class.

THE commander of the Memphis, wrecked off the coast of San Domingo by a tidal wave this week, is Captain Edward L. Beach, the well known author of the Annapolis books and the Roger Paulding series for boys, published by the Penn Publishing Co.

IF WE WERE A BOOKSELLER in Cincinnati or any other baseball city we should certainly put a notice in our window or on our poetry counter that Christy Mathewson, the new manager of the Reds and the most respected man in baseball, has just purchased a copy of Robert Frost's "North of Boston."

J. B. LIPPINCOTT Co. published August 28 the first of a new series of practical manuals to be called Lippincott's Home Manuals.

"Clothing for Women" is by Miss Laura I. Baldt, B.S., instructor in the department of Textiles and Clothing, Teachers College, Columbia University. It covers selection, design and construction.

THE CREAM OF WHEAT COMPANY has been granted a permanent injunction and an award of damages against certain retailers in Los Angeles and vicinity who had been supplying customers with middlings in bulk when Cream of Wheat was called for. This is an echo of one of the Cream of Wheat Company's price maintenance suits.

E. J. CLODE will publish three books by Christian D. Larson on September 15: "Steps in Human Progress," in which, under the headings in Self, Truth, Spirit, he points out a way to achieve the very best in life; "The Good Side of Christian Science;" and "What Right Thinking Will Do," in which he tells how thought power may be employed to better one's condition.

AFTER A PERIOD of some years, Emerson Hough has again joined the field of fiction writers with a new novel, "The Magnificent Adventure," which D. Appleton & Co. publish to-day. The story, which is said to be of the same type as his earlier successes, "The Mississippi Bubble" and "54' 40' or Fight," relates the romantic adventures of Captain Meriwether Lewis, of the famous Lewis and Clark expedition. The heroine of the story is Theodosia Burr, daughter of Aaron Burr.

SEVEN BOOKS are announced for publication by Doubleday, Page & Co. on September 6. These are: "The Soldier's Catechism," by Major F. C. Bolles and Captains E. C. Jones and J. S. Upham; "Short Stories from Life"; "The Grizzly King," a companion story to "Kazan," by James Oliver Curwood; "The Bird House Man," by Walter Prichard Eaton; "The House of Fear," by Wadsworth Camp; "The Farm Mortgage Handbook," by Kingman Nott Robins; and "Casuals of the Sea," by William McFee.

STUDENTS of the arts have been struck by the lack of books in English dealing with Russian art, and particularly with Russian painting. Mr. Alfred A. Knopf's announcement that he has just arranged to bring out an English version of Alexander Benois's "The Russian School of Painting" is of unusual interest. Christian Brinton, one of the best known American art critics and a personal friend of Benois, will furnish an introduction to the book in appreciation of Benois and his work.

A NEW novel by Wells is ever an event. He has always been a searcher—whether into other worlds and future generations, into socialism, into the question of a more honest sex life between men and women, into the possibility of living the noble life, or into the cause for the seeming general muddle of things social and political. And now what will he do with the war in "Mr. Britling Sees It Through"? It is a question which many readers are no doubt eagerly asking. The new book will be published by Macmillan on September 20.

PROSPERITY in the Bible trade, despite a hundred per cent. increase in Bible paper and a seventy-five per cent. increase in leather, is reflected in the alterations and improvements which have been going on in the New York offices of Thomas Nelson & Sons during the past week. The bookkeepers have been consolidated in the rear and all desks moved to the right side of the office, leaving the left side free for the sample room. Comfortable chairs will be installed in the sample room to lure the buyers to prolong their visits—and, incidentally, their orders.

REGINALD WRIGHT KAUFFMAN, in his new novel, "The Mark of the Beast," which the Macaulay Co. is to publish on September 15, takes up the problem of lynching with much the same directness with which he handled prostitution in his "House of Bondage." The new book was first written as a novelette; then rewritten in that form. Next Mr. Kauffman developed the whole into a full-length novel, then he took out 20,000 words. Finally, there came to him a new twist to the plot and this he inserted, bringing the novel again up to what the trade calls "standard length."

IN THE FINAL HEARING in the case of the Star Co. v. Harry C. ("Bud") Fisher and the Wheeler Syndicate over the right of the Wheeler Syndicate to use the familiar names "Mutt and Jeff" in Fisher's comic cartoons, Justice Greenbaum, of the New York Supreme Court, on August 14 reaffirmed the defendant's right to the words "Mutt and Jeff," and denied finally all claim of the Star Co. to a trade right or copyright in the words. This decision makes final Justice Weeks' refusal of a temporary injunction in September of last year (see PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY, September 18, 1915). At the same time, the Star Co. is permanently enjoined from using the words "Mutt and Jeff" in further comic cartoons which they may publish.

LITTLE, BROWN & Co. are publishing a long list of new books on September 6, headed by the new Owen Johnson novel, "The Woman Gives," and including Fannie Healslip Lea's romance, "Chloe Malone"; a new illustrated edition of Mrs. Mary R. S. Andrews's "The Three Things"; "Talks on Business Correspondence," by William C. Bamburgh; "Duty and Other Irish Comedies," by Seumas O'Brien; "Heart Songs and Home Songs," by Denis A. McCarthy; three books of animal stories, "The Adventures of Prickly Porky," "The Adventures of Old Man Coyotte," and "Mother West Wind 'How Stories,'" by Thornton W. Burgess; "Little White Fox and His Arctic Friends," by Roy J. Snell, who was formerly a missionary in the frozen North; "Wonder Tales Retold," written and illustrated by Katharine Pyle; "Pilgrims of To-day," by Mary H. Wade; Madge A. Bingham's "Merry Animal Tales," and another volume of the Little People Everywhere Series, "Chandra in India."

BUSINESS NOTES.

BOSTON, MASS.—The partnership of Ritter & Flebbe, 120 Boylston Street, Boston, publishers, booksellers and importers, has been dissolved. Mr. George H. Flebbe is no longer a member of the firm, and henceforth the firm will do business under the name of Ritter & Co.

NEW YORK CITY.—John E. Meyer, Inc., has been incorporated to do business as booksellers, stationers, printers, publishers and paper manufacturers. Capital stock, $20,000. Incorporators: J. Meyer, F. Aide and M. Alterman.

ST. LOUIS, MO.—In the issue of August 26, we noted the bookselling and publishing company conducted by the William Harvey Price Co., Inc., recently removed from Cedar Rapids, Ia. This should have read, The William Harvey Miner Co., Inc. There is no publishing connected with the business which is devoted wholly to the sale of rare and scarce books.

Bindloss, Harold. Johnstone of the border; with front. in color. N. Y., Stokes. c. 339 p. D $1.35 n.

Events along the wild coast of the North Sea offered an unexpected task of daring to Andrew Johnstone, just home when war was declared. Mysterious lights and strange doings along the Solway shore, ships sunk and submarines in hiding give him a task to serve his country. He knows the coast like his hand, and nothing could keep him from his search for the spies operating there. But all was not danger; romance shaped some events and had some victories. Published in England under title: The borderer.

Deland, Mrs. Marg. Wade Campbell. The rising tide; il. by F. Wa. Taylor. N. Y., Harper. c. 292 p. pls. D $1.35 n.

Title refers to the force of feminist ideas as it carries Frederica Payton away from the conventional ideas of her family and her set. Freddie's portrait and her mother's are tightly painted, as artists say. Bravely, Freddie holds her own, working in her office, advocating suffrage and birth-control. She tries to live as well as to preach simplicity and sincerity between men and women, and when she falls in love with Howard Maitland, she proposes to him. He refuses her. At this time her colored maid commits suicide because she also is jilted. Her sorrow for this, added to her own suffering, steadies Frederica. Weston, her middle-aged guardian, has always understood her and loved her. Now is the time he takes to tell her so.

Hilton-Turvey, C. The Van Haavens; with

il. by H. R. Ballinger. Bost., Small, Maynard. c. 400 p. pls. D $1.35 n.

Once more the great out-doors puts a young aristocrat on his feet, and sends him back not with his fortune made, but in shape to do it. It is truer to say that Bella McFallon did the sending. So Willoughby shouldered his snobbish family and their aspirations for realizing on some apartments they owned. By luck, Bella came to visit in the city where she was joined by an Irish cousin and his friend. They visited the Van Haavens, who were not cordial. Bella found a buyer for the real estate. Aileen Van Haaven fell in love with the wrong Irishman; she was sure he didn't have the title, but she simply couldn't help it. Willoughby and Bella had been in love all along; so their wedding was less a surprise than Bella's identity.

Tells how the five attractive daughters of a Methodist parson managed to get a great deal of enjoyment out of life for themselves and others. Prudence, the eldest, who has mothered the others, leaves for a distant home of her own, but her influence still guides the tempestuous twins and Connie the literary member, while Fairy, the second sister, takes the helm, aided by Aunt Grace. Fairy steers safely to romances for all the young people.

Johnson, Fanny Kemble. The beloved son; with a front. by G: W. Gage. Bost., Small Maynard. c. 407 p. D $1.35 n.

The father tells of the struggle his sensitive, high-strung son made against drink. He has the fullest sympathy for Dave, and believes in him and the outdoor life he led. After Dave's first defeat, there is a blank of seven years in the narrative, while Dave develops into a writer, and the lovely little Narcissa is away, growing up. Dave and Narcissa marry. He does not make his great and unbreakable promise to her (she does not ask it), but to his father, whom he thinks is dying.

Mears, Madge. The sheltered sex. N. Y., J: Lane. 313 p. D $1.25 n.

As the only way to get free from her restricted life, Ruth Charlton lets her family believe she had gone off with Jolivard. They were not eloping; he meant to help her get work in London, and that would end it. Their train was wrecked, Jolivard was badly hurt and had to stay in the hospital. Ruth held his job for him, and cared for him when he came out. They were just pals, but they gradually accepted what the neighbors thought about them. After several years, Ruth's brother, who had run away to Australia, wanted her to join him. At this turn, Jolivard and Ruth decided they could not separate; so they were married, and both went out to the Kid's ranch.

The Publishers' Weekly

Subscription Rates.

One year, postage prepaid in the United States, $5.00; foreign, $6.00.

Single copies, 10 cents. Educational Number, in leatherette, 50 cents; Christmas Bookshelf, 25 cents.

Advertising Rates.

One page	$25 00
Half page	14 00
Quarter page	7 00
Eighth page	4 00
One-sixteenth page	2 00

The above rates are for unspecified positions. Special rates for preferred positions (full pages only).

Higher rates are charged for the Summer Reading, Educational Number and Christmas Bookshelf, and for the monthly Book Review supplement sections.

Advertising copy should reach us Tuesday noon—earlier if proof is desired out-of-town. Forms close Thursday night.

Under the headings of "BOOKS WANTED" and "BOOKS FOR SALE" book-trade subscribers are given under their own names five nonpareil lines (exclusive of address) free advertising for specified books, not more than one title to the line, in any issue except special numbers, but not exceeding one hundred lines a year, a maximum of fifty lines under "Books Wanted" and fifty lines under "Books for Sale," and if over five lines are sent for either department in any one issue, or fifty lines for each department within the calendar year, the excess is at ten cents a line. Bills for this service will be rendered monthly. Objectionable books are excluded so far as they are noted.

In answering, please state edition, condition and price, including postage or express charges. Houses that will deal exclusively on a cash-on-delivery basis should put [Cash] after their firm name. The appearance of advertisements in this column, or elsewhere in the WEEKLY does not furnish a guarantee of credit. While it endeavors to safeguard its columns by withholding the privileges of advertising should occasion arise, booksellers should take usual precautions in extending credit.

"Books Wanted" must be designated by actual title, not by "any."

Write your wants plainly, on one side of the sheet only. Illegible "wants" are ignored. The WEEKLY is not responsible for errors. Parties with whom there is no account must pay in advance.

Under "HELP WANTED" or for other small undisplayed advertisements, the charge is 10 cents a nonpareil line. No reduction for repeated matter. Count seven words to the line.

IMPROVE Your Bindery Production

BY USING

REG U. S. PAT OFF

BOOK-FINISH

THE BINDING MATERIAL

Noted for Its Durability.
Attractiveness and Adaptability

BOOK-FINISH FABRIKOID is the result of extended experiments by a practical book-binder to determine the exact requirements of a material for book-bindings exposed to severe and constant service.

BOOK-FINISH FABRIKOID has the popular grain finish of leather, the colors which good taste and service demand, is immune from insect attacks and

Is Impervious to Moisture

BOOK-FINISH FABRIKOID cuts, pastes, binds, stamps and cases same as leather. Every inch is uniform in texture,—no defective, tender, imperfect sections as frequently appear in leather. Leading binderies have adopted BOOK-FINISH FABRIKOID and after exhaustive tests they pronounce it superior to much of the leather now available.

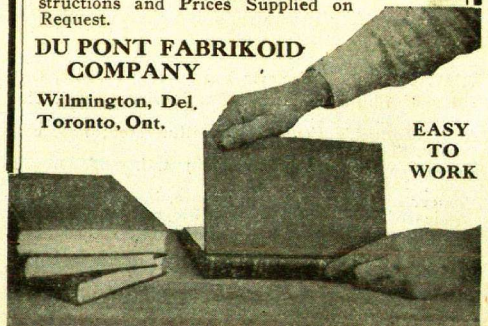

Improve your production, reduce material costs and popularize your bindings. Adopt BOOK-FINISH FABRIKOID—the superior leather substitute expressly made for book bindings.

Reference List of New Publications

Recorded in AUGUST, 1916

This Reference List enters the books recorded during the month under (1) author, in Clarendon type, anonymous books having Clarendon type for the first word; (2) title in Roman; (3) subject-heading in SMALL CAPS; (4) name of series in Italics.

A colon after initial designates the most usual given name, as: A: Augustus; B: Benjamin; C: Charles; D: David; E: Edward; F: Frederick; G: George; H: Henry; I: Isaac; J: John; L: Louis; N: Nicholas; P: Peter; R: Richard; S: Samuel; T: Thomas; W: William.

For books received sizes are given in CAPS, Q, O, D, etc., books not received sizes are given in Roman numerals, 40, 80, 120, etc. Prices are added except when not supplied by publisher or obtainable only on specific request. Where not specified the binding is cloth.

Those desiring to learn the entire publishing output of the month in any one field should look under one of the following

MAIN HEADINGS:

PHILOSOPHY	MEDICINE	LITERATURE
RELIGION AND THEOLOGY	AGRICULTURE	POETRY
SOCIOLOGY	HOUSEHOLD ECONOMICS	DRAMA
LAW	BUSINESS	FICTION
EDUCATION	ENGINEERING, TECHNOLOGY	BIOGRAPHY
PHILOLOGY	FINE ARTS	GEOGRAPHY AND TRAVEL
SCIENCE	GAMES, SPORTS, AMUSEMENTS	HISTORY

Besides the titles listed under each of these headings cross reference is made from each to a limited number of cognate headings which collectively give all the new publications of the month in the given subject or group of subjects.

Inquirers looking for books on a specific topic should look under the general subject to which that topic belongs, i.e. GEOLOGY rather than SILURIAN PERIOD; MATHEMATICS rather than CALCULUS; ECONOMICS rather than WAGES. Books regarding specific Religious denominations, countries and persons, however, should still be sought for under their individual names.

The writer has not had an opportunity earlier to write and express our appreciation of the prompt and efficient way in which you have carried forward the printing of the Typo Credit Book. In spite of the fact that the book was re-set from cover to cover and you were given the least possible time in which to do it, you completed your work on time and had the final sheets in the hands of the binder, so that we were able to make our deliveries on July 1st as we planned.

We want also to say that the printing and presswork is of the highest order, and so far not a single high-line has come to the writer's attention.

The Typo Credit Book for July, 1916, is by far the handsomest book that we have ever issued and is a credit to us, as well as to you who are responsible for the printing.

Thanking you for your successful efforts in our behalf, we are,

Yours very truly,

THE TYPO MERCANTILE AGENCY,

W. T. G. Weymouth, President.

A New Art Work by
JOSEPH PENNELL

THE WONDER OF WORK

Profusely illustrated.

Net, $2.00.

Mr. Pennell is notably a modern, and has found art in one of the greatest phases of modern achievement—the Wonder of Work—the building of giant ships, railway stations, and the modern skyscraper; giant manufacturing, marble-quarrying; oil-wells and wharves—all the great work which man sets his hand to do. Not only in America has he drawn these things, but all over the Continent of Europe, and has drawn them as no one else can draw them. Two days before the war broke out he drew the interior of one of the Krupp works at Essen—and how he got in to make his drawing he will not tell you. But the other drawings he does tell you of, and in those crisp and wonderful and inspiring touches of introduction to each picture as illuminating as the pictures themselves.

OPEN THAT DOOR!

By R. Sturgis Ingersoll
Net, $1.00.

A stimulating volume with a "kick" upon the relation of books to life: the part great books play in our goings and comings, in the office, in the street, and in the market place. The relation of poetry to the suburbanite.

Similar in size and style to those popular sellers, "Why Worry?" "Peg Along," etc., etc. Write for special unique poster.

OPEN. THAT DOOR!

SHAKESPEARE AND PRECIOUS STONES

By GEORGE FREDERICK KUNZ, Ph.D.

Four illustrations. Square 8vo.

Net, $1.25.

Treating of all the known references to precious stones in Shakespeare's works, with comments as to the origin of his material, the knowledge of the poet concerning precious stones, and references as to where the precious stones of his time came from. Instructive, because of its treatment of the precious stones subject as well as because of their relation to Shakespeare.

FROM NATURE FORWARD

By HARRIET DOAN PRENTISS

Limp leather binding.

Net, $2.00.

The public mind is unsettled; the individual lives a day-to-day existence wrestling with disease, mental troubles and unsatisfactory issues. This book outlines a system of psychological reform that can be followed by every man and woman, as the author says, to "buoyant physical health, release of mental tension, and enlarged and happy outlook on life."

SOLDIER TALES OF THE GREAT WAR

In the Field

The impressions of an Officer of Light Cavalry.

With My Regiment

By a Platoon Commander.

On the Anzac Trail

By "Anzac."

This is a new series of small volumes written by the actors in the great world drama. They are distinguished from other war books in that they are the human documents recording in autobiography the daily experiences of the individual soldiers, the authors.

Six volumes. Sold separately. Each, net, $1.00.

Prisoners of War

A soldier's account of German prison life.

The Epic of Dixmude

By Charles Le Goffic.

With map and illustrations.

"Contemptible"

By "Casualty."
